Berlin, 23rd—The Socialist Congress has declared its opposition to the continuous increase of military expenditure which exhausts the nation and especially the working classes.

Bebel and Liebknecht have promised to attack in the Reichstag the Military Bill and the new taxes.

Rome, 23rd—The Italian Parliament was opened to-day. The King and Queen were vigorously cheered on their way from the Quirinal to Parliament, where the Senators and Deputies gave them a great ovation, on their arrival and departure.

The King in his speech referred to good foreign relations, the good effect in France of the Genoa fetes; his resolve to stick to the Triple Alliance; the equilibrium of the Budget without fresh taxation, or impairing the army and navy.

He said the fiscal system would be reformed on the basis of Retrenchment, and that the new House should devote prior attention to social reforms and the welfare of the working classes.

It is remarked that the speech is splendid in form, but shows that Government is apprehensive that it may not be able to fulfill its promises.

Paris, 23rd—The Panama Canal Commission comprises 22 members of the Left; 10 of the Right and 1 Boulangist.

Before introducing the Home Rule Bill, Government intends to establish County Councils in Ireland.

Berlin, 23rd—Caprivi made important declarations in the Reichstag to-day in support of the Military Bill. He said peace was only to be preserved by being prepared for war, like other nations. France continued to arm, and the Czar's attitude inspired uneasiness.

He said that Germany could not face France and Russia on the east and west frontiers.

The Chancellor's declarations are expected to give rise to lively discussion in the European press.

It is subject of remark that Caprivi made no reference to the Triple Alliance, or to Austria and Italy, as if they were of no account, and Germany would have to fight France and Russia single-handed.

(Per Havas Agency.)

Berlin, 23rd—Levetzow has been re elected President of the Reichstag. He declared to the House that the discussion on the Military Bill was urgent.

Rome, 23rd—The new Italian Parliament was opened to-day. In his speech from the Throne King Humbert referred to good foreign relations, and the great success of the fetes at Genoa as a triumph for Italy, heightened by the presence of the French fleet, showing the pacific intentions of France towards Italy.

The King said that the present state of Europe is very reassuring as to peace, and that the Italian Budget will be balanced without resort to fresh taxation. In conclusion he declared his faith in the financial recovery of the country.

(To the "Prensa".)

Paris, 22nd—The debate in the Deputies on the Panama Canal trial was very violent, and several members called each other ugly names.

Lesseps is seriously ill.

The trial will commence on Friday Fraud, obtaining money under false pretences and swindling are the charges.

Rome, 22nd—The Pope's health is excellent. His Holiness is satisfied with the result of the Italian elections.

London, 22nd—The Social Democratic League has commenced a campaign against rents.

Government is in favour of the abolition of Corporations in towns.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

The necessity for capital punishment is making itself felt in our city in the most palpable manner, by the terrible murders which take place almost daily. In most cases the assassin is apprehended, but Justice is so blind that after a brief interval he is again at large. For all practical purposes the Criminal Courts might as well be abolished.

Sometimes it happens that an assassin who has already been convicted of five or six murders is sentenced (nominally, to ten or twelve years' imprisonment, but even this mild sentence is not carried out, someone interests himself in his favor, and he is again free, after a few months, to resume his career of crime. As a natural consequence the Argentine Republic is regarded by the criminal classes in Europe as a place where they can enjoy comparative impunity, and hence the number of assassins has grown alarmingly in our population. Such a state of things cannot go on for ever: either the criminals will get the upper hand, overawe the Judges, and convert Buenos Ayres into a pandemonium, or the public will rise up and compel the Government to do its duty.

No Government, said Lord Palmerston, is worth the name that cannot protect the lives and properties of its subjects. This is an axiom that Pres. Saenz Peña will not contest, for he and all his Cabinet are lawyers. It is impossible to suppose that the President can every morning take up his newspaper dripping with blood, and feel as unconcerned as if these crimes were committed in Dahomey. He knows well that in every civilized country the authorities do their best to punish criminals, especially assassins.

The latest dates from Chile inform us that four murderers were shot on the 4th inst. for the assassination of a man at San Juan Peral, whose house they robbed. This shews that in the sister-republic they have learned the utility of capital punishment, and under such circumstances it is by no means improbable that Chilian criminals of the worst type will take refuge in Argentina. But, if our Government were to take example of the Chilian the facility for committing murder in Buenos Ayres would be so much reduced that crime would diminish in a remarkable manner.

We have before us the criminal statistics for the Province of Buenos Ayres, shewing that the average number of assassinations is 260 yearly: the total number of deaths is 13,000, from which we see that 2 per cent of the population are murdered. This is really appalling, when comparad with European figures, the deaths from assassination in France and Germany being less than one in 1,000.

Thirty years ago it was customary in Buenos Ayres to shoot assassins, and crime was then much less frequent and less daring than at present. This reminds us that some of the Swiss Cantons and of the States of North America which had abolished capital punishment were compelled by the terrible increase of murder to introduce it again, and the results were as satisfactory as could be desired. We are in a similar position in Buenos Ayres, and the only hope of saving society from chaos is enforcing the penalty of death.

BARON HIRSCH'S COLONIES.

THE MAURICIO COLONY.

We have very cheering accounts from the above colony, which was for a long time in a backward and unsettled condition. There were originally 500 families, some of which, however, were utterly unfitted for agricultural pursuits, and all of which were discontented, because they could not get the farms promised to them. They were kept nearly two years under huts of sheet iron, exposed to scorching heat in summer and to intense cold in winter, and compelled in a manner to pass their days in idleness. Since the arrival of Col. Goldsmid there has been a complete change: 320 families have received farm-lots, averaging from 62 to 124 acres, the remainder of the families having been sent back to Europe.]

When Col. Goldsmid recently visited the colony (which is adjacent to Mr. John Campbell's fine estancia, in the department of Nueve de Julio) he found that the colonists had more than 1,000 acres under wheat, besides many farms under maize and vegetables.

The area of Mauricio colony is 66,600 acres, but this includes lagoons &c, the extent of land suited for tilage being 45,000 acres. Most of this is now distributed in 320 farm-lots, and bullocks and plows have been given to each family. There are 40 groups of 8 families each, and we understand that 8 groups constitute a section; each of the 5 sections is under the charge of a Jewish capataz, and so pleased are the colonists at all the arrangements that Mauricio has begun to wear a look of industry and prosperity. Instead of iron huts they have now comfortable houses, that is the greater number, some of the houses being yet unfinished, but even these will all be completed before the end of December.

The crops look well, and no locusts have appeared up to the present. We have also good news of the Jewish colonies in Entre-Rios, where everything is going on smoothly and well. It must be gratifying to Col. Goldsmid to see what a turn for the better has taken place in the Hirsch colonies since his arrival, due we suppose in a great measure to his prudent arrangements.

THE CALLE BULNES MURDER.

The fiendish author of this mysterious crime has fallen into the hands of the police. The Chief of Police laid under contribution all the activity, energy and other powerful elements of his department to discover the whereabouts of the murderer. So far the following particulars have been brought to light. In the first place the husband of the victim has made his appearance on the scene and identified the mutilated body. On Tuesday, Meardi, the husband, having seen in the papers that the police could not identify the body of a woman, presented himself at the Bombero Barracks and was subsequently conducted by Col. Calaza to the Chief of Police, before whom Meardi related that he had lost his wife. Gen. Viejobueno then produced the woman's photograph, hiding the body with his hand, so as to allow only the head to be seen. "That is my wife," exclaimed Meardi, "but she is dead." And he seemed to be seized with horror. At the same time he tried to remove the hand of the Chief of Police and catch sight of the entire likeness. The clothes of the woman were laid before Meardi, who stated that he recognised them as those of his wife, Margarita Pruzzi.

José Meardi is a man of 27 years of age, middle height, fair haired, and with fair moustache. Margarita, his wife, was 24 years of age, a native of Condeville, where her parents reside. Meardi, who is from Pontecazone, Alexandria Province, was married to her about six months ago. Meardi had been two years here before returning to Italy to get married. His wife brought him 5,000 liras, with which he intended to start some small business here. They came out from Genoa in the Provence, landing here on the 19th inst. They went to the Immigrants' Hotel and subsequently to the Fonda Torino, on the Paseo Julio. They wandered about the streets of Buenos Ayres, and on the night of the 20th, in the Recoleta, Meardi left his wife for a minute and never saw her since. He followed a woman whom he took to be his wife, but he soon found out his mistake. He searched for his wife in vain, and returned to the Paseo Julio, sleeping in an inn alongside the Fonda Torino. The next night he passed in a fonda in Calle Lima. When he found out that the police were looking for someone to identify the body of a woman he resolved to present himself.

General Viejobueno ordered Meardi to be searched, the sum of 1,300 liras, a few paper dollars, two watches, a pair of earrings and two rings being found on him. The police suspected that Meardi himself committed the crime. Meardi had shaved off his whiskers, and it was observed that his nails had been cut short and were very clean.

On being asked what motive there could have been for murdering Margarita, he replied that he could not say, unless it were robbery, as she had her earrings on and nine liras in her purse. It is significant that there were no earrings found on the husband. Another significant detail is the following: The police found Meardi's trunk in the Immigrant's Hotel and on examining the contents, came across a pair of canvass shoes stained with blood and mud. The label on the trunk had been scratched out.

THE CLEARING HOUSE FRAUD.

Some days ago we published the particulars of the swindling institution which had been carrying on business in this city under the title of South American Clearing House. The London papers received by last mail contain the history of a similar fraud in Malta, as explained in a letter from that place, dated October 10th.

"A charwoman here recently gave out that she would receive money 'in trust,' paying the fabulous rate of 1s. per pound per week, or 260 per cent per annum. Few availed themselves at first of such a novel innovation in banking, but as these were receiving their interest promptly and punctually, others were gradually tempted to venture their money in the same way. By continuing her punctuality the woman banker gained daily the confidence of the people. The earlier depositors having in a short time doubled and trebled their capital in the way of interest received, their good fortune impelled others to place all they could scrape together on such seemingly advantageous terms, and for the last few months there was a constant flow of deposits. The matter formed the only topic of conversation among the working classes. The craze became general, and high and low, Government officials and clergymen, ignorant and educated people, rushed from all parts of the island to deposit their money with the woman. Anything that could be converted into money was sold or pledged. Large sums deposited with the Government Savings Bank at a nominal rate of interest were withdrawn, and the rush to pledge articles with the Government Mont de Piété became so great that the institution had practically to close its doors.

"The example set by this charwoman soon found emulators, the newer establishments, also directed by women, offering in competition 50 per cent more interest than the 'original firm.' Even this, did not seem to open the eyes of the people, who, on the contrary, rushed headlong into the pit that was prepared for them, the bait offered evidently proving irresistible

"How the people here, who have the reputation of being shrewd, could have placed any confidence in these women is astonishing. There would have been some excuse for the most ignorant, but amongst the depositors figure Government officials, police officers, clergymen, etc. The infatuation of the people reached to such a pitch that there is no knowing into what ruin the island would have been plunged had these most disgraceful transactions not been brought to a premature end by natural causes. The outflow of interest not keeping up with the inflow of deposits in the case of the newer establishments, shakiness was displayed, and people hastened to withdraw their deposits, an immediate panic ensuing. For the last few days these 'banks' were so besieged by roaring crowds of depositors anxious to recover their money that the police had to intervene to maintain order. Writs having been taken out by some of the depositors, a search was made in the dwellings of these women. In the case of the 'original firm' money and jewelry had already vanished. Another woman, not so astute, was found to have £30,000 left of the deposits she had received. It is computed that the total amount deposited with the several women exceeds £100,000. It is generally supposed that some unscrupulous men were all the time directing and profiting by these frauds, and, as one of the principal women is now under arrest, it is expected that startling disclosures will be made."

REPUBLIC OF ECUADOR.

DESTRUCTION OF MISSIONS.

The Western Courier of Valparaiso gives an account of the massacre of 8 priests and the abduction of 5 Sisters of the Good Shepherd in the province of Eapo. The Government of Ecuador assert that these crimes have been committed by the Indians, but there are strong reasons to suspect the local authorities as either having perpetrated them, or at least connived at them. We extract as follows:—

Latest advices from Eapo confirm the massacre of 8 missionary fathers and the abduction of 5 nuns of the Good Shepherd.

It is strange that after four-and-twenty years of patient striving to bring the Indians to a sense of Christian duty, the Missionaries should be sacrificed by them: immolated upon the very altars they had helped to raise.

It is well known that in all their troubles and afflictions the Indians had ever appealed to the self-denying Missionaries, who invariably succoured them in their distress; protected them from the too frequent abuses of both Government officials and Traders, and, conjointly with the Sisterhood, exposed their lives in alleviating the physical sufferings of the Indians. The writer, who was present during the fearful epidemic of small-pox in 1890, could not but admire the humane conduct of both priest and nun, and note the apparent gratitude of the patients. On that occasion the Governor, his satellites, and the traders, absolutely refused to render assistance in any shape to the poor disease-stricken natives: in fact, the Governor made all haste to quit the district, as soon as he could secure four convalescent Indians to carry him across country.

Ever since the Mission has been re-established,—for it existed in old time, as far back as 1628,—it has been subject to hostility from the white traders who have gone thither, and, in many instances, from the Civil Authority.

Of the five religieuses carried off by the Indians, two are British subjects, the Lady Superior, a native of Liverpool, and the other, a gentle young Canadian. One of the remaining three is a Frenchwoman, and the others are Ecuadorians.

Cannot anything be done to rescue these fair beings from the clutches of such devils incarnate, and save them a life-long misery and servitude? Speak! ye who are their brothers and countrymen. Will ye let your sisters, your country-women, (educated and refined women) drag out an ignoble existence, degraded and defiled by the touch of wanton savages?

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent)

Oct. 18th

The including of the execution of the Nicaragua Canal as a plank in the Cleveland platform is not a palatable fact for the French; but it is spurring them on to make a final effort to achieve what M. de Lesseps commenced, but was unable to finish. If a few honorable financiers and as many honest engineers took in hand the "débris" of the Panama scheme, it is quite on the cards they would obtain some monetary help to start with, and if all went well the remaining pecuniary assistance would not be wanting. The victimized shareholders who have abandoned all hope, become louder in their demands to bring M. de Lesseps and his co-directors to trial for swindling them. That will be the only revenge, as every one knows by the artful clauses of the constitution of the Canal Company the directors are not liable for the lost capital; they can be imprisoned only for a misdemeanor.

Whatever may be the end of the ebullition that Socialism is now passing through, there can be no doubt that it is destroying all harmony, disorganizing all relations between capital and labour, between employer and employed. Every branch of workers is syndicating, and, on the whole, keeping their cohesion intact; how far the federation of all the trades can be brought into line and remain in the bonds of unity is the unknown problem; if politics could be eliminated the prospects of general federation would be brighter; but that elimination is very distant. The Labour class has now its sympathising press, and its own order of experienced speakers—these remarks wholly exclude the anarchists; when a strike occurs the cue is to pity the misery of the worker, and it is great, against the opulence of the employer, who is often millionaire. Just now there is a case in point. M. Sommier is a sugar refiner and immensely rich; he occupies the next to royal castle at Vaux-le-Vicomte, once the property of Fouquet, the famous "fermier general," whose wealth made Louis XIV. jealous; the grounds are magnificent; well, 200 of his hands, all females, employed packing and sorting the mechanically sliced lump sugar, have struck, not for higher wages or shorter hours, but against a reduction of salary amounting to 15 sous per day, which means death for them. The women and girls work from 6 in the morning till 7 at night, less a rest for meals of 80 minutes; they have to carry the sugar from the machines, in boxes of 112 lbs., a distance of 40 yards, then pack etc. To earn 4 frs. a day they must manipulate at least one ton of the sugar. The atmosphere of sugar dust in which they live destroys their health, corrodes their flesh; they lose their hair, nails and teeth; their fingers are raw flesh covered with rags; at 40 years of age they die off from consumption. Yet the manager declines to continue present rates of pay, alleging that would ruin him, and prevent him from keeping up his establishment. Surely there must be something wrong in the division of wealth.

The Carmaux colliery strike has taken an ugly turn; it has drifted into a question of the maintenance of universal suffrage, against monarchical coercion. The directors of the Company are royalists, and two are the deputies for the electoral district in which the mines are situated, near St. Etienne. The directors desired to have their nominee, the doctor attached to the collieries, named Mayor of Carmaux; the miners preferred one of their own men, named Cavignac, and exercising their extreme right, seized the occasion of his official absence to dismiss him. The miners, over 2,000 in number, made common cause with their comrade-Mayor, resenting the snobism of the directors and their attempt to coerce universal suffrage; at this stage the republicans at large struck in, and now back up the Carmaux colliers as the defenders of the republic and of universal suffrage against the monarchcial company. The upshot may be that the State, exercising its right, may foreclose the concession, set it up to auction, and so secure an administration that will not ride their politics and their rights to death.

The cholera is generally vieed was conquered; this is due to the energy displayed by the authorities in enforcing all preventive measures, such as cleanliness, disinfecting, and the not bringing together of crowds, while recommending people to avoid excess in everything. And the people responded in the same spirit. But the Seine, justly accused as the source of all the contagion, has to be dealt with; it out-choleras the Elbe. Clearly, the Seine cannot continue to be the source at once of the water supply of the city and the cloaca maxima of the capital. Hence, projects to separate the dual functions to the Seine. The most practical and immediate is to tap the river several miles from the point where it enters the city, filter it in special basins, and and then pipe it to Paris and the suburbs. Engineer Ritter proposes to tap the Swiss Lake Neufchâtel at a depth of 50 fathoms, pipe the required quantity across the departments to Paris and on to Rouen. The expense would be 400 million francs, say one million per kilometre, and, as the water would have an excellent initial fall, "harness" it, as the Americans do Niagara, to supply motive power in addition. Consumers would have to pay one half less waterrates than they do now.

Attention has been called to the diminution of the population in the Lower Alps, due to emigration or rather flight of the male inhabitants to Montevideo. Since 1832 to 1891, nearly 80,000 persons have emigrated to South America, but these figures are below the mark. The explanation given is that the men desire to escape the conscription. So that it is not uncommon to find districts where the females as compared with the males are as four to one. In the time of Isaiah "seven women took hold of one man." The only way a peasant girl can ensure obtaining a husband is to decamp also for Montevideo. It is at such a moment that Madame Hurot, of anti-Viri section notoriety, has founded a League for the suppression of human misery by following the commandments of Malthus. Evidently there will be no poverty when there will be no more people. She only accepts the adhesion of ladies, who will be pledged to oppose compulsory motherhood—that doctrine dear to Mrs. Caird and Theosophic high-priestess Mrs. Besaut. Malthus has laid down, only the rich ought to indulge in the luxury of children; for the proletariat to do so was an immorality. Pastor Stocker, of Antisemitic fame, proposes to endow every young man and woman of Alsace with a fixed sum, who will intermarry with orthodox Germans.

Herr Liebknect, the German deputy socialist, paid a hurried visit to the Marseilles Labor Congress; he received a satisfactory welcome, and his doctrines of universal union of labor and the banding of peoples to oppose wars were well received. He would solve the Alsatian knot by making Alsace into a big Swiss Canton; the German Emperor does not agree with him. He has certainly cracked up the French socialists to hope, to federalize, and to fight. But he denounced the Franco-Russian alliance, in the name of European democracy.

HOW TO TREAT LOCUSTS.

Goya, Nov. 14.

The question Locust is attracting a good deal of notice just at present. There appears to be much haziness surrounding it. The question is grave and very few people, if any, appear to have grasped the magnitude of it, judging from the various plans put forward for their destruction. I first saw locusts in 1870 and since then have had to defend my crops in nine different years, so I may claim to be somewhat familiar with their ways and habits; so far as they could be studied in this Province of Corrientes. In the first place I should like to air a theory of my own concerning them. I believe that they propagate wice in the year, once in the north, presumably in Brazil, and once in the south, in this country, when they come here. My reasons are these: when they first appear from north, they are in the same condition, identically as regards colour, size, &c., as those which are hatched out here, when they first fly; therefore I believe that they have just received their wings; and as they soon change after arriving, that therefore they cannot be the same as those that fly away from us in February. They generally arrive in September and leave in February, I believe every individual locust only lives six months. The idea that they come from this or that lake is all bosh, it is not their habit to lie around promiscuous; if it were, there would be some hope of getting rid of them. Every female lays her eggs in the hardest ground she can find, separately, three inches deep, and each nest has about 82 eggs. If the country was sufficiently populated, here lies the secret of their destruction. Every nest communicates with the surface by a small pipe of dried spume or froth which the young eat and so reach the daylight. If anything happens to this pipe (it is a little over 3/16 of an inch in diameter), the young locust is imprisoned and dies. Therefore, by howing or harrowing, or by any other means stirring the soil to the depth of 4 an inch the pest is destroyed where it is most concentrated; but where are you going to get people sufficient to scratch all the Chaco, to say nothing of the populated provinces, and then their maintenance and carriage. The question is a big one. I see nothing for it at present but to act on the defensive, complete destruction being out of the question; but by destroying eggs and "saltonas" near chacras, much property may be saved. The eggs take 22 days to incubate and the young emerge of the size of a house fly and the colour of light cream; but a day's exposure to the sun turns them quite black. This colour they maintain until the first shedding of their skin, which occurs in about a month, they then emerge yellow and black and shed their skin again in 15 days, keeping of the same colour; and in fifteen days more they shed the skin for the last time, and come out with wings and of a dark indian red. They are then perfect locusts and at this stage they do most damage and are most difficult to deal with, as they are very lazy, cannot be driven and have most voracious appetites. "Saltonas" may be destroyed in many ways; by burning them in long dry grass, although if they are many they easily put out the fiercest fire by weight of numbers; by trampling them in the early morning with mares and sheep; by beating them on the head with spades, with wire whips or other implements; by driving them into ditches, only it is necessary to make the ditch in their line of march, as they are worse to drive than pigs. A pig you can drive auywhere by trying to drive him in the opposite direction, but a locust knows which way he wants to go and simply lies low until you are tired and then serenely marches on. Therefore take note of his line of march and dig the ditch before him and he will walk into it without any trouble; but he is also liable to walk out the other side, so it is necessary to have something like canvass or boards to prevent him. If the ditches are dug a little wider at the bottom than the top it contributes materially to their efficacy. I have seen them, once the ditch was half full, get their legs so mixed up that they could not move any more and they gave no more trouble. The young saltonas hardly move for the first five days, but remain in a close phalanx, and I think that kerosene might be sprayed on them and fired with advantage. A litre of kerosene would then conclude a large "manga", but when they are well grown it would be very expensive and probably not effective. A large "manga" of well grown saltonas frequently presents a front of over 500 yards with a depth of 200, while the same manga at first would be only 30 ft. square. "Saltonas" should always be worked before sunrise or after sunset with the exception of ditch work or fire, which is best in the middle of the day. It is quite possible that some substance may exist, like Persian powder which kills certain insects that you wot of instantly, that might be blown over them and thus finish them wholesale, or exploded amongst them on the ground. We have carbonic acid and chlorine gases which, I believe, are heavy gases and would not rise and dissipate themselves too soon in the air. I would recommend practical chemists to look this matter up, there is a small fortune in it. I have personally tried all the methods mentioned, with the exception of kerosene and the gases, and they are all effective and it is easy to get rid of a "manga" or two or half a dozen; but what of the thousands that exist where they cannot be reached or where the owners of camp are too apathetic to take any trouble and the authorities of the same way of thinking. The "manga" that came from the north this year deserves to be placed on record. It had an unbroken front of 15 leagues that I was able to verify, and was probably double that length, and in some places it took 3 days to pass, while in others only six hours; but it came before a strong north wind, travelling over 12 miles an hour, and the noise was sufficient to stampede tame cows. Unless the "manga" is very thick they hardly make any noise. I believe people compare the locust question here with Cyprus, it is useless, every condition is different. It would be a much more parallel case to compare it with Algiers; but then where have they a force to compare with the French army of occupation and the means of applying it. It would be instructive to obtain some statistics of the means employed, the number of men, the expenses, and the results obtained, including percentage of crops saved and destroyed.

I remain yours very truly
D. R. Perrens.

THE COLUMBIAN BANQUET.

The banquet of the Ibero-American Press took place at the Whitehall Rooms, Hotel Metropole on Wednesday night, the 12th inst. His Excellency the Marquis de la Casa Laiglesia, the Spanish Ambasador, presided, and there were about 140 guests present.

The following gentlemen were unavoidably prevented from attending: Dr. Plaza, Mr. Mateo Clark, Señor Zendagui, La Nacion, Mr. Alexander Baillie, Consul of Paraguay: Mr. Alexander Mackinnon, Consul of Uruguay: Sir Vincent Barrington.

Behind the Chairman, draped in the Spanish colours, was a model of the handsome Columbian shield to be sent by the Goldsmiths' and Silvermiths' Companies to the Chicago Exhibition.

The Chairman, having proposed the health of the Queen, the Earl of Donoughmore proposed "The Sovereigns of Spain, Portugal, and Italy, and Presidents of all American nations."

Sir Charles Tupper then proposed the toast of "Columbus," observing that if time had ever handed down the imperishable genius of any living man, it was that of the man whom they were met to commemorate, and that if ever a man had acted under a spirit of inspiration that man was Columbus (Cheers.) To the immortal honour of Spain that great man had found in that country the support which he had vainly sought elsewere. The toast was drunk by the company upstanding, with three times three.

Colonel Church then proposed "The Diplomatic Representatives and Guests," to which the Mexican Minister, the Chargé d'Affaires of the United States, and Sir Arthur Hodgson, responded.

Sir J. Hender proposed the toast of "The Chairman" and the Spanish Ambasador, in responding, said that he was a lover of England, and he should act in that spirit so long as he had the honour of representing Spain in this country.

Señor F. A Pezet, Peruvian Consul-General, proposed in a humorous speech the toast of "The Press," coupled with the name of the representative of the Daily News.

Mr. John Samson (of the South American Journal), then proposed "The Organising Committee." He said that, whilst nearly every other nation was now engaged in celebrating this glorious anniversary, it would not have been fitting had the greatest maritime power of the world allowed it to pass without formal notice. Mr. Samson expressed the great sympathies which he felt with the Spanish race, amongst whom he had lived for many years, and his desire to further their interests, especially those of the South American nations, in which work the paper with which he was now connected had been engaged for thirty years.

The banquet then concluded.

We regret to hear that the cost of the banquet will probably leave a deficit, to be made up by the Committee, amounting to between £40 and £50.—South A. Journal.

WATER SUPPLY.

Nov. 22.

Mr. Editor,

I should like to know through your valuable paper if the "Water works" people think that stopping the supply of water in this city will improve the health. Fancy to yourself so many thousands of houses left without water at this time of the year; why in any civilized city it would be looked upon as a crime.

It's high time that the Government should step in and put a stop to this abuse; or else before long the death rate of this city will rise considerably. Also I must point out, that this stoppage of water occurs every summer, which I consider quite unnecessary. How is it that in London, or any other big European city similar occurrences do not, take place. It strikes me that the people in charge of these works do as they think fit, for their own convenience, consequently the public in general must suffer.

However, I am in hopes that this water business will improve; not a little but a great deal, which is necessary.

I am Dear Sir,
Yours truly,
Marcus Warland.

CONGRESS.

THE DEPUTIES.

The House met at 3 p.m., Dr. Lastra in the chair.

Several extra credits for the War department were voted.

Dr. Bermejo resigned as member of the Investigation Committee, and Dr. Gonnet was appointed in his place.

The debate on the Stamped Paper Law was continued and the Bill was sanctioned up to Article 79.

The House went into "cuarto intermedio" at 5 p.m., and did not reassemble.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday was a Central Station and La Plata Dock Day. The former looked liked Charing Cross and the latter like Southampton Docks as the Thames passengers embarked for England, home, beauty, Christmas dinners and Cockle's Pills after them. Half the well-known English people in town seemed to be in the Central Station as the Thames train started, and a good number went to La Plata to see their friends off.

We seldom take the trouble to contradict incorrect statements about our paper. It is, however, right for us to say that the assertions in one paper that the late Mr. Neville Barnes was manager, and in another that he was editor, of the STANDARD are pure fictions.

The accidental death of Mrs. Genes, wife of Mr. Nicolas Genes, has caused a most painful impression in society. The unfortunate lady was ill and the doctor ordered her atrophine, made up in eight pills: the apothecary put the quantity of the drug ordered into three pills, and the result was, of course, fatal. The lamented lady was a daughter of the late Mr. John Spraggons, estanciero, and formerly Juez de Paz of Lincoln. We offer her husband and family our sincere condolence in their sad bereavement.

The Kermesse in Plaza San Martin seems to have been worth all the fuss, bother and milliners' bills it gave rise to. The net proceeds are $54,744, divided unevenly between the Beneficencia, Misericordia and Patronato. The ladies and all concerned deserve a warm vote of thanks.

The Government House blazed with Italian gold lace yesterday, when the Italian Minister and all the officers of King Humbert's ships in port went to pay their respects to the President of the Republic, who received them most cordially.

Preparations for the historical Santa Lucia fetes at Barracas next month have commenced.

If we win the Golondrinas Chalet on Christmas Day, it's as likely as not that we'll start an Asylum for Broken-Down and Hard-up Editors and Journalists in general, as the place would be a charming retreat for ourself and our done-up confreres.

A great number of hackney Jehus have thrown up work owing to the recent reduction of fares, and are thinking of turning their talents into a more lucrative field. For two days past there has been a notable scarcity of carriages for hire in the Plazas.

The La Plata Port is to be "let" to our London friends. So says the Prensa. Query sold? And then the once proud and wealthy Queen Province will have nothing left to let or sell, but a few leagues of poor land and its two bankrupt banks. Alas and alack aday!

All town is talking of the Calle Bulnes horror, the latest particulars of which will be found in another column.

A lady desired her butler to be saving of an excellent tun of small beer, and asked him how it might be preserved. "I know of no method so effectual, my lady," said the butler, "as placing a barrel of good ale by it."

Guerri, the survivor of the two brothers who tried to blow President Sarmiento over the moon with an infernal machine at the corner of Maipu and Corrientes twenty years ago, and who was liberated by Pres. Pellegrini, is at his old tricks again. He and a "pal" named Barba broke into Mr. Lavallol's house in Calle Victoria the other night; but were heard by the family and made a rush to escape. Barba jumped from the balcony of the upper story into the street and qualified himself for a trip to the Chacrita by cracking his skull. Guerri was found hiding in a half-built house next door.

The Prince of Wales's gray hair is imitated by his male admirers, who gently powder theirs.

Mails from Panama and its precious Isthmus to October 6th. The revolution in Honduras is over. There is no news. The cholera scare was uppermost when the mail left for the South; but there had not been even a case of brandy or gin cholera.

The ring to be presented to the Rt. Revd. Dr. Lastra, the new Bishop of Cordoba, is to be seen in the window of the jeweller next the Ciudad de Londres. It looks very costly.

In Corrientes they are badly in want of a few thousands more Locust Extinction money. It's all gone. No more till next year, dear Corrientes.

The following is the cast of characters of 'Ours':—

Prince Perovsky, Mr. F. Lucas Wooley.
Sir Alexander Shendryn, Mr. Basil Guy.
Captain Samprey, Mr. Frank Jones.
Angus MacAlister, Mr. George Howard.
Sergeant Jones, Mr. Arthur Anderson.
Hugh Chalcot, Mr. C. R. Miller.
Lady Shendryn, Mrs. C. R. Miller.
Blanche Haye, Miss Edith Foster.
Mary Nettey, Miss Anderson.

We beg to call attention to the fact that the third row of boxes is very good. For seeing and hearing there are no places to beat the stalls.

All the pretty English and Anglo-Porteña girls in town are going to O'Kill's morning performance for the English Literary Society on Saturday; and, all good looking young men of the same community will make a push to be there. O'Kill intends to bring all his forces into the field for the great occasion, and there ought to be a big crowd. The Society gets half the gross receipts.

One man or country's meat is another's poison. Here sheep farmers look on the thistle as their best friend. In Australia a patriotic Scot once introduced some thistle seed from his native heath. It now costs the government tens of thousands of pounds a year to pay a whole army of inspectors sub-inspectors and goodness knows who to enforce a tax of 50£ on everyone with thistles on his estate who does not destroy them within three days of notification.

We're in as great social demand as a leading belle. We received yesterday a pressing invitation to the first dinner-concert of the season in the Tigre Hotel, which will be eaten and performed in that splendid caravanserai to-day. The eminent violinist Lizarralde will direct the music, and we believe some one equally eminent will direct the dinner. Tickets including return journey, dinner, concert and a free look at the moon o'er the waters playing can be had at the Central Station for the paltry sum of 5$ shinplasters. The dinner alone is worth the money.

The M. V. T. declares that the report that President Herrera is nervous about his precious anatomy and sleeps in the barracks every night is all balderdash, and says:—"We can answer to seeing President Herrera almost nightly in his box at the theatre, accompanied by a few civil and military friends, but without sign of guard or escort, and we have seen him leave the theatre when the play was over, pushing through the crowd at the ordinary exit, and jumping into his modest but well-appointed brougham, provided with no further attendance than the coachman and his usual body servant, a gigantic and remarkably ugly "negro" in well-worn Chasseur uniform. In fact, there is such an entire absence of formality and precautions that on one occasion, as we were leaving by the same exit, in the crush, we almost trod on His Excellency's excellent corns without being aware of it. Dr. Herrera is very tolerant towards the press, but all the same he might not like having his corns trodden on thus."

The National Labour Office has work for over 1,300 hands, so there is no excuse for dead-beating about the streets by those able and willing to work.

The death of Mr. J. Hill, the well known Cacarña miller, is announced. He was a gentleman widely esteemed and respected, and his demise will be sincerely regretted.

The newest thing out is the new Lord Mayor's idea of making all the hackney drivers pass a competitive examination before they are admitted to that learned profession. The plan of studies is being drawn up.

The seats and boxes for "Ours" are rapidly getting into the public pocket, and becoming his, hers, yours and theirs. The chances are 100 to 1 that the house will be crammed and a bumper wind-up to the amateur dramatic season of 1892 witnessed.

Public opinion seems to be charitably awakening to the wretched lot of those deserving member of the Fourth Estate "los Cronistas." The Wise Men of the City provided them all with nice, comfortable graves in the Chacrita the other day, and we hope will pay their funeral expenses also as occasion may arise. Next Tuesday there will be a grand benefit performance for them in the Odeon Theatre, and charitable people should turn up. Tickets are on sale at the Circulo de Cronistas, 121 Calle San Martin

The steamers carry first and third-class passengers and are fitted with every modern improvement for their comfort.
Passengers from River Plate Ports are conveyed by any first class steamer they may select, and arrangements have now been made allowing them to tranship in Rio immediately on their arrival, should the connecting steamer be in port at the time. (N.B. The U. S. and B. M. steamers are usually in port three or four days prior to the date fixed for sailing.)
Staterooms and berths will be allotted to passengers here, through to destination.
Connection from the R. Plate:
The last opportunity for passengers from the Plate to connect with the s.s. SEGURANCA at Rio as above, will be by the P.S.N. Co.'s steamship, AGONCAGUA hence on the 16th November.

THE POET'S SMILE
He worked off a smile of supreme content
As he dropped in his easy chair,
A laugh from his classical lips he sent

ON 'CHANGE.

Wednesday, November 23rd 1892.
Gold Premium.

FIRST RING..... 176 80/95
SECOND RING..... 177.00/95

There was a turn in the gold tide this morning as the requirements of the monthly settlement began to be felt, and bearish as the speculative feeling was up to yesterday, it turned suddenly bullish to-day, especially in time bargains. There can be no doubt that a heavy "shortage" must be covered between this and the end of the month, but the difference between the price of end of of inferior wools. Messrs. Devoto and Balbiani have just sold to Messrs. Lahusen and Co. the wool consignments from the three great estancias—Santa Clara, Vanguardia, and Malagueña—in the province of Santa Fe and belonging to Mr. Noberto Quirno Pizarro. This consignment of wool amounts to no less than 100,000 kilos, and is sold to deliver on the estancias at 15$ 5% for "lana madre" and "borrega"; "barrigas" half that price. This is the sale of the day. We understand that these are inferior wools with much burr. All this Pizarro wool will be baled in the barraca of Mr. Juan L. Somoza in San Nicolas and shipped from that port to Europe. Mr. Somoza has already bought in the North of the province of Buenos Ayres over two million kilos of wool for account of a leading German exporter here.

There can be no doubt now that good, superior wools will maintain their prices in spite of any fall in gold, as the news from Europe is very satisfactory.

The gold market ruled steady at the second ring: about seven hundred thousand gold dollars were sold, the premium closing at 177 % for to-morrow, Saturday and end of the month, 175 % for the end of December and 172 % for the end of January. Patriotic and Internal Bonds were dull at 73.90 and 69½ respectively for to-morrow. La Plata Cedulas fell to 32¼.

The following is a summary of the business effected at the second ring to-day:—

Three hundred 40 % certificates of the City of Buenos Ayres Mortgage Bank were sold this afternoon at 23.

Exchange ruled a shade firmer this evening, par rate being quoted on Antwerp.

One quarter per cent premium was paid yesterday for a large amount of sovereigns in one of the private banks.

The clearance of the R.M.S. Thames was the business of the day, and the Central Station was crowded with friends to see the passengers off. Most of the passengers were accompanied to the La Plata dock, where the scene was still busier than at the Central Station. We wish them all a pleasant voyage and a speedy return to the River Plate.

Messrs Becú, Alcorta and Estrada form the Economic Committee for cutting down the expenses of the Banco de la Nacion. These gentlemen begin in the right way; the salaries of the clerks they leave untouched, whilst the salary of the President of the Board of Directors they strike out in toto. We want the same stamp of men in our legislatures, as the country cannot afford to pay the Senators and Deputies the fees they charge, and we trust that the example set our legislators by these worthy President and Directors of the Banco de la Nacion will have good effect. This system of paying legislators in times of severe crisis, when the country is not able to pay the interest on its debt, is simply scandalous; every province in the Republic will certainly have a sufficient number of respectable well-to-do citizens, willing in times of need, like the present, to legislate for nothing. We suppose that in one way or another there are 1,500 paid legislators in this country; now the fees paid to these gentlemen during the last three years would come to a very respectable item. The burst of patriotism for the subscription of another Rosales is not so clearly intelligible to the economic mind in the presence of this great scandal of paid legislation, and it is with profound satisfaction that the market sees at last the right sort of men coming to the front; even if only in the administration of a bank it is a beginning. We must get a Becú, Estrada and Alcorta into our Deputies and a Don Manuel Aguirre into our Senate. Things would right themselves very soon then, and gold would very soon come back to par.

The tumble in maize is tremendous; a large lot for export was sold to-day at $4.95, and another lot of 3,000 bags in San Nicolas at $5. However, it is not so much the fall in price to which we would call attention as the astonishing fact that maize keeps arriving from all quarters still, and the maize men say that the new crop will be in before the old one is finished.

The sale of 800 squares of land in Arrecifes by Mr. Holway is reported at the very high figure of $250 per square, which gives the enormous price of $400,000 the square league; now it is worthy of note, that whilst half a league of good land in Arrecifes sells for 200,000 Nats, equally good land for Agriculture can be bought in Trenque Lauquen for less than one-tenth of the money.

The cheques of the old Banco Nacional are again rising in value, and people talk on Change about it, as it is whispered that the Romero scheme for the liquidation of this bank will be carried out, in which case there will be a great demand for those cheques by parties who owe the bank and have to pay up.

The London correspondent of our evening colleague El Argentino pays Mr. Frank Parish, Chairman of the B. Ayres Great Southern Railway, a great compliment. He says that at the late meeting of that company Mr. Parish made a beautiful, poetic allusion to the regeneration of Argentine credit, and compared the favorable telegrams coming from the Plate to the golden rays of the arising sun and the correspondent says that, spite of all this, the English people mourn the loss of their greatest poet, which is a calumny on Mr. Parish. The same correspondent says there is a frightful row in London because ex-President Pellegrini and ex-Minister Hansen assert that the special hypothecation of the Custom House is not to the 1886 bondholders but to the old National Bank, which is indeed a pretty how-do-you-do for the London Stock Exchange. The Review of Reviews, he says, publishes a skit on the province of Cordoba, Queen Victoria, and the European bondholder. He also gives a melancholy picture of the Entre Rios Railway Company, which reflects seriously on the credit of Messrs Lucas Gonzales and Company, who have grand offices in a grand city palace. We should like to know the name of this London correspondent, who appears to be better up in Argentine matters than anyone we know of in London. His last letter is well wort reading, it will be found in Tuesday's Argentino.

The week opened in Rosario with the resumption of gold business on its Bolsa. We hardly think, however, that the gold business there will amount to much. They tried it before and it was dead-slow, and if in the period of land boom, syndicates, bum-bum contractors, railway concessions, boulevard speculations, the Bolsa gold business of Rosario was a mere bagatelle, how much less would it be now when speculation of every description is pumped out and half the people of Rosario are living from hand to mouth; in fact the only gold speculators that the brokers up there can count on are the captains of steamers and sailing vessels, who collect their freights in gold and pay their way in paper; but ship-captains, as a rule, are not to say speculators. Every ship-captain is not a Vanderbilt, and Rosario will have to grow for many long years before it will produce a Vanderbilt; we consider, therefore, that the attempt of the Rosario brokers to get up another gold ring will prove a dead failure. The new wheat business is opening in Rosario, and already large lots of new wheat are offering at $6.30 per 100 kilos, but as yet nothing done. Both the Rosario and Central Argentine railways have reduced their goods tariff, and it is hoped they will also reduce their passenger tariff.

The manager and directors of the Banco de la Nacion in Santa Fé have arrived in town to solicit from the head house here an increase of capital to meet the requirements of agriculturists. Were we on the board we should say "No," and, furthermore, we would shut up the branches of the Banco de la Nacion throughout the province of Santa Fé until the unjust and illegal tax on the crops in that province was abolished; and we hope that the board of the Bank here will prove good men and true and send these gentlemen back to Santa Fé as they came.

They say on 'Change that the new board of the Banco de la Naciou has before it a pile of "solicitudes" from all parts of the provinces and the country asking for the creation of new branches or for the increasing of the capitals of those already established. It is to be hoped that they will all be rejected; the Bank has already too many branches in existence, it is too expanded. If the cities and towns in the provinces want banks let them consult Mr. Nicholas Lowe, of Mercedes, and let them imitate the example he has set in the province of Buenos Ayres; all the country towns and places have quite sufficient local capital of their own to start and maintain a local bank provided the right sort of people are the founders and administrators, and people in the provinces will never have a day's luck nor an hour's prosperity until all the Government banks in the provinces are shut up and Government banking in this country once and for ever abolished.

Advices from Concordia received yesterday report the burning of the oil factory of Mr. Eugenio Robin. The whole place was destroyed. The establishment was insured for 40,000$.

Active transactions in wools are reported from Tandil; the firm of Lahusen and Co. has purchased lately over one million kilos at 5.50 to 6.50$ per 10 kilos.

Mr. L. Repetto, the well-known saladerista, arrived yesterday from Genoa and was welcomed on 'Change.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Hill, partner of the late Mr. Thomas Thomas, of Carcarana; both worthy men and both gone.

Dr. Romero, our Minister of Hacienda, has just sold to Repetto and Co. 2,000 fat novillos at 25$ per head for their saladero. It is pleasant to see that our Minister is an estanciero. The question now is what will be put the proceeds of this sale into, as it is a very hard question what to invest in at present.

Paper Money.

Projectors every now and then start up with plans for curing all the economical evils of society by means of an unlimited issue of inconvertible paper. There is, in truth a great charm in the idea. To be able to defray the expenses of government without taxation, and, in fine, to make the fortune of the whole community, is a brilliant prospect, when once a man is capable of believing that printing a few characters on bits of paper will do it. The philosopher's stone could not be expected to do more.

The substitution of Paper for metallic currency is a national gain; any further increase of Paper beyond this is but a form of robbery.—John Stuart Mill on Inconvertible Paper Currency.

Paper Money properly means paper made legal tender, and not legally convertible into gold, or anything else, at the pleasure of the holders, or at any given period No part whatever of the value of such paper money is derived from confidense. It circulates because it is made legal tender, and because the use of a circulating medium is indispensable; and its velue, supposing the demand to be constant, is in all cases inversely as the quantity in circulation.—
